Overview

Source over 12 cable trays for sale from manufacturers with factory direct prices, high quality & fast shipping.

Key Takeaways

Wholesale lightweight, high-strength cable trays are available in materials like aluminum, galvanized steel, and fiberglass, with prices varying by size, type, and load capacity.Overview of Cable Tray Types and Materials

High-strength cable trays are designed to support and organize electrical cables efficiently while being lightweight for easier installation. Common materials include:

• Aluminum: Lightweight, corrosion-resistant, ideal for overhead or suspended installations .

• Galvanized Steel (GI): Strong, durable, suitable for heavy-duty industrial applications, often available in ladder, perforated, or solid-bottom designs .

• Fiberglass: Non-conductive, corrosion-resistant, suitable for environments requiring electrical insulation . Tray types include ladder trays for heavy cables, mesh trays for ventilation and lightweight applications, solid-bottom trays for sensitive cables, and trough trays for moderate protection .
Pricing Considerations

Wholesale prices depend on material, dimensions, thickness, and load capacity:

• Aluminum mesh or ladder trays: Typically cost less per meter than heavy-duty steel trays due to lower weight and easier handling .

• Galvanized steel ladder trays: Prices vary with thickness (0.8 mm to 3 mm) and dimensions (widths 50–1200 mm, heights 25–250 mm), suitable for high-load industrial setups .

• Fiberglass trays: Usually priced higher than aluminum but offer non-conductive properties for specialized applications . Bulk orders often reduce per-unit costs, and suppliers like Alibaba, EC21, and GlobalLinker provide options for custom sizes, perforations, and modular systems .

Accessories and Customization

Wholesale suppliers offer complete systems including:

• Connectors, bends, tees, reducers, and brackets

• Cable clamps, ties, and hangers

• Modular and customizable tray sections for complex routing These accessories ensure flexible installation and compliance with industrial standards such as DIN EN 61537 .

Recommended Suppliers

• Alibaba: Offers a wide range of high-strength cable trays, including mesh, ladder, and solid-bottom types, with options for bulk purchase and customization .

• EC21: Provides competitive pricing and access to multiple manufacturers for GI, aluminum, and stainless steel trays .

• GlobalLinker: Features GI cable trays with high load-bearing capacity, corrosion resistance, and customizable dimensions for industrial and commercial projects .

Summary

For lightweight, high-strength cable trays, aluminum and fiberglass are ideal for weight-sensitive installations, while galvanized steel provides maximum strength for heavy-duty applications. Wholesale prices vary based on material, size, thickness, and customization, with bulk orders offering cost savings. Suppliers like Alibaba, EC21, and GlobalLinker provide extensive options, accessories, and technical support for large-scale projects.
